

Lecturer's name:		Date:
Course: ELA 7		Duration:
Unit: 2		TEKS:
	• E1.4C	E1.4D	• E1.4E	• E1.4F	E1.4G
Lesson objectives:	By the end of the lesson, students will be able to confirm predictions using text features, characteristics of genre, and structures. Students will use this information to write a five paragraph essay.	By the end of the lesson, students will be able to create mental images to deepen understanding. Students will use this information to create visual images to help them understand a short story.	By the end of the lesson, students will be able to Make connections to personal experiences, ideas in other texts, and society. Students will use this information to write an essay explaining their personal connection to a short story.	By the end of the lesson, students will be able to make inferences and use evidence to support understanding. Students will use this information to write a five paragraph essay.	By the end of the lesson, students will be able to evaluate details read to determine key ideas. Students will use this information to write a five paragraph essay.
Essential Questions:	How can you confirm predictions?	Essential Questions: How can you create mental images to deepen understanding?	How can you make a personal connection to a text? What are some benefits of drawing a connection between a fictional story and other sources of information?	How can you support an argument?	How can you use the details of a story to determine the key ideas of a story?
LYS Methodology Be (Character/Values/Pri	LYS Methodology Be (Character/Values/Principles) - How can you use your spirituality to be connected to the world around you? Know:	Be:What is humility? Know: How can you build productive habits at work?	LYS Methodology Be (Character/Values/Principles) - What does it mean to aspire?	LYS Methodology Be (Character/Values/Principles) - When should you not be tolerant of ideas	LYS Methodology Be (Character/Values/Principles) - How can you use your spirituality to rebuild your trust in someone? Know: What degree will you need in order to pursue your dream job?

nciples) Know (What resources are available to the student / How can they use them) - Do (Execute with Excellence) -	What entry level positions exist in your field? Do: How can you develop your spiritual narrative?	Do: What are some simple ways of managing your resources?	Know: How can you fit exercise into a busy schedule? Do: What can you do to be more professional at work?	put forth by your classmates or teachers? Know: How can you balance your spiritual well being with information that might go against your spirituality? Do: What does your social circle have to do with your aspirations?	Do: What should you do when you encounter roadblocks in your career?
Resources (Include Technology):	Lesson Wide Laptop Projector Instruction Reading Strategy: Prediction https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nsLD33rczFA&ab_channel=AshleighBrook Activity "The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell https://archive.org/download/TheMostDangerousGame_233/connell_richard_edward_1893_1949_most_dangerous_game.pdf	Lesson Wide Laptop Projector Instruction Reading Comprehension Strategies - Create Mental Images (Visualizing) https://youtu.be/GyRp1VAh29A Activity Paper Art supplies	Lesson Wide Laptop Projector Instruction eSpark Learning: Making Text Connections Reading Strategy Instructional Video https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=sIDkOBb5sMk&t=17s&ab_channel=eSparkLearningVideos Activity "The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell https://archive.org/download/TheMostDangerousGame_233/connell_richard_edward_1893_1949_most_dangerous_game.pdf	Lesson Wide Laptop Projector Instruction Lesson 6 - Inferences https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=e7szjbRv9HRLmne1Rs&ab_channel=CohesionEducation Activity "The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell https://archive.org/download/TheMostDangerousGame_233/connell_richard_edward_1893_1949_most_dangerous_game.pdf WordProcessor	Lesson Wide Laptop Projector Instruction Identify the Main Topic and Retell Key Details https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Q6jRLmne1Rs&ab_channel=CohesionEducation Activity "The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell https://archive.org/download/TheMostDangerousGame_233/connell_richard_edward_1893_1949_most_dangerous_game.pdf WordProcessor

			WordProcessor
Instructional Input - Asynchronous AS: Anticipatory Set (Introduction)	AS: Students will use the designated form of technology available to them to discuss/communicate for up to 10 minutes with a partner how you can make and confirm predictions using a text. M: Students will watch a video on making and confirming predictions using a text. Introduce The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell". Ask them what sort of predictions they can make off the title.	Instructional Input - Asynchronous AS: Anticipatory Set (Introduction)	Students will use the designated form of technology available to them to discuss/communicate for up to 10 minutes with a partner how a text can be connected to the world around us. M: Students will watch a video on drawing connections.	AS: Students will use the designated form of technology available to them to discuss/communicate for up to 10 minutes with a partner how inferences and supporting evidence can be used to measure one's understanding of a text.	AS: Students will write a few sentences, up to a paragraph, about how the key ideas from a text can be determined from a reading. Students will upload their answers to the LMS.
M: Modeling (I do)	GP: As a class, have students read "The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell", stopping intermittently to make predictions (some good places to pause and have the students make predictions at the end of every page). When students have finished, ask students to share some of their predictions. As students share their predictions, have students write them on the board. Ask students if any of their predictions were correct. After students have shared the accuracy of their predictions, ask them if they think the use of thunder can be used to predict when major events in the story are going to happen. Inform students that they are to write an essay answering this question.	M: Modeling (I do)	GP: As a class, students will read "The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell". After finishing the short story, ask them what sort of connections they can make between the text and their personal lives. Then ask them if the story reminds them of other stories they have read. Inform students that they are to write a five paragraph essay explaining how they can connect the story to either another story, their personal life, or the world around them.	M: Students will watch the inferences video. After the video, introduce the short story, "The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell GP: As a class, students will read "The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell . As the students read the story, ask them what the story is about. Then ask students what sort of world the story takes place in. Ask the students how the author describes the world the story	M: Students will watch a video on how to determine the key ideas from a text. After the video, introduce the story "The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell . Before The class begins reading the story, tell students to pay attention to the details of the story so they can try and determine what the key idea of the story is. GP: As a class, have the students read The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell After they have finished, ask them what they think the central theme of the story is. Ask them what they think Poe is trying to say to the reader. As students answer, ask them to share details about how they came to that conclusion. After a few students have shared their answers, tell students that they are to write a five paragraph essay answering the question and are to use details from the text to support their answers.
GP: Guided Practice (We do)

		most dangerous game. As students listen to the story, have them try to create mental images. After finishing the story, have each students discuss some of the mental images they visualized and how it helped them understand the events of the story. Then have students try to draw some of the their visualizations		takes place in. Inform students that they are to write a five paragraph essay exploring what sort of society the story takes place in and they are to use details from the story to support their answer.
Instructional Input - Synchronous AS: Anticipatory Set (Introduction) M: Modeling (I do) GP: Guided Practice (We do)	AS: Students will discuss with a partner how you can make and confirm predictions using a text. M: Instructor will lecture on making and confirming predictions using a text. Introduce The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell . Ask them what sort of predictions they can make off the title. GP: As a class, have students read “ The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell , stopping intermittently to make predictions (some good places to pause and have the students make predictions at the end of every page). When students have finished, ask students to share some of their predictions. As students share their predictions, have students	Instructional Input - Synchronous AS: Anticipatory Set (Introduction) Students will write a few sentences, up to a paragraph, on how they think they can create mental images to deepen understanding of a text. M: Modeling (I do) Instructor will lecture on how to create mental images to deepen understanding of a text. Introduce The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell”. Ask	AS: Students will discuss with a partner how a text can be connected to the world around us. M: Students will watch a video on drawing connections. GP: As a class, students will read “The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell After finishing the short story, ask them what sort of connections they can make between the text and their personal lives. Then ask them if the story reminds them of other stories they have read. Inform students that they	AS: Students will discuss with a partner how inferences and supporting evidence can be used to measure one’s understanding of a text. M: Students will watch the inferences video. After the video, introduce the short story, “The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell. GP: As a class, students will read “The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell As the students read the story,	AS: Students will write a few sentences, up to a paragraph, about how the key ideas from a text can be determined from a reading. M: Instructor will lecture on how to determine the key ideas from a text. After the video, introduce the story The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell Before the class begins reading the story, tell students to pay attention to the details of the story so they can try and determine what the key idea of the story is. GP: As a class, have the students read The Most Dangerous Game by Richard Connell . After they have finished, ask them what they think the central theme of the story is. Ask them what they think Poe is trying to say to the reader. As students answer, ask them to share details about how they came to that conclusion. After a few students have shared their answers, tell students that they are to write a five paragraph essay answering the question and are to use details from the text to support their answers.

	write them on the board. Ask students if any of their predictions were correct. After students have shared the accuracy of their predictions, ask them if they think the use of thunder can be used to predict when major events in the story are going to happen. Inform students that they are to write an essay answering this question.	students to close their eyes and think about what sort of images they picture by hearing the title. GP: Guided Practice (We do) As a class students will listen to an audiobook version of the most dangerous game. As students listen to the story, have them try to create mental images. After finishing the story, have each student discuss some of the mental images they visualized and how it helped them understand the events of the story. Then have students try to draw some of their visualizations	are to write a five paragraph essay explaining how they can connect the story to either another story, their personal life, or the world around them.	ask them what the story is about. Then ask students what sort of world the story takes place in. Ask the students how the author describes the world the story takes place in. Inform students that they are to write a five paragraph essay exploring what sort of society the story takes place in and they are to use details from the story to support their answer.
Independent Practice / Homework	Students will complete their essay.	Students will finish their illustrations.	Students will complete their essay.	Students will complete their essay.	Students will complete their essay.

Lesson Close What is the answer to the essential question, and why does it matter to me in terms of: Educational? Social? Cultural? Financial? Health? Vocational? Spiritual?	Spiritual When most people think of how they are connected to the world around them, they often think of cultural connections to other people. While this is a common way of thinking, sometimes you need to think outside of the box. Think about your spirituality-how can you use your spirituality to be connected to the world around you? Vocational Regardless of where they end up, everybody starts off in an entry level position in their field. Think about your career goals, what are some entry level positions for you in your field? Spiritual Your spiritual narrative consists of what your life is about and what gives it meaning. Right now your narrative is just beginning, but just because it's just beginning doesn't mean you can't plan ahead. How can you develop your spiritual narrative?	Lesson Close What is the answer to the essential question, and why does it matter to me in terms of: Spiritual Humility is generally described as freedom from pride or arrogance. Humility is important because it can help keep us grounded and can prevent us from acting in ways that might make others unhappy. Although you now know the definition of humility, what do you think it actually means to be humble? Vocational When you enter the workforce, you will be expected to utilize the skills you developed in school or through experience. However some of the skills that you will need to rely on cannot be taught in school and can only be developed	Social Aspirations can be understood as a strong desire or ambitions. What about you? What are your aspirations? Who or what do you aspire to be? Health Doctors suggest getting a half hour of exercise every day. For some people, such as students, hitting this goal is pretty easy. But for others, including people who are stuck at a desk, getting a half hour of exercise everyday is easier said than done. Thankfully there are some small ways you can get exercise during the day such as taking the stairs versus the elevator or walking instead of taking the bus or driving in a car. What are some ways you can get exercise during the day? Vocational Being professional at work consists of different aspects-from completing your work to treating your boss and	Education At school, you will be exposed to a wide variety of ideas, including some that you might not have previously considered. However, while it is important to expose yourself to a wide variety of ideas, some of the ideas you are exposed to might make you uncomfortable and you might find them difficult to tolerate. When should you not be tolerant of ideas put forth by your classmates or teachers? Spiritual While you are in school you will come across a lot of controversial information. Some of this information might go against parts of your spirituality or even challenge your spirituality. When you come across information that challenges your spirituality, how can you attempt to balance knowing and	Spiritual Trust is a very delicate thing. As you go through life you will trust a lot of people. However, some of these people will end up breaking your trust. Some of the people who break your trust might be people that you can afford to no longer associate with. When someone breaks your trust, you might find yourself at a loss about how to react and you might turn to your spirituality for guidance. How can you use your spirituality to rebuild your trust in someone? Education Different types of jobs require different types of degrees. For example, if you want to be a history teacher you can start off with just having a bachelor's degree in education. However if you want to teach history at a university you need at least a Master's degree but chances are you will need your PhD. Think about your dream job. What field is it in and what types of degrees will you need in order to pursue your dream jobs? Vocational As you go through your career, you will most assuredly face roadblocks-you might lose your job at a bad time or you might realize that the career you picked isn't the one you really wanted. However, just because you encounter these roadblocks doesn't mean you have to tolerate them. What should you do when you encounter roadblocks in your career?
---	--	---	---	--	--

		through experience in the workforce. One of these skills is productivity. Productivity is something you might learn while in school such as balancing getting your work done with spending time with your friend. However, once you enter the workforce productive habits become even more important as not being productive at work can cause you to lose your job. How can you build productive habits at work? Financial Managing financial resources is a vital component of being an adult. There are a wide variety of techniques and methods you can rely on to help you manage your finances-from relying on a professional to using a budgeting app. With such a wide variety of resources at your disposal, what are some simple ways of	coworkers with respect. Even though you are in middle school, it's not too early to think about being professional. What can you do to be more professional at work?	learning that information with maintaining your spiritual well-being? Social Having a social circle can have many benefits, it can promote good mental health, it can keep you out of trouble and it can help you with your aspirations. However, being part of a social circle requires you to contribute to it as well. Think about your aspirations and the aspirations of the people in your circle. How can you assist members of your social circle with their aspirations?
--	--	--	---	--	--

		managing your resources?
--	--	-----------------------------	--	--	--